

Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 23 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Widespread rain arriving later this afternoon.

Today:
Rather cloudy and largely dry to start but showers will soon develop throughout the day. An area of locally heavy rain will move into the region in the late afternoon, accompanied by gusty winds. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tonight:
Rain, heavy in some areas, will continue clearing eastwards and then conditions turning mostly dry overnight with lighter winds. Feeling cool, particularly under any clear skies. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Monday:
Often cloudy with widespread showers, heavy at times and carrying a risk of thunder and hail. Showers will clear in the evening, allowing for a dry night with clear spells. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Breezy with showers possible on Tuesday and Wednesday, but largely dry otherwise with periods of sunshine. Lighter winds on Thursday with sunny spells. Temperatures gradually returning closer to average.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.